Notice Concerning Voluntary Product Recall

TSI Holdings Co., Ltd. (the Company) hereby announces that certain issues have been identified in some pedal-assisted electric two-wheeled vehicles it sold, and has decided today to implement a voluntary recall and related measures, as described below.

1. Overview and Background

Regarding certain pedal-equipped electric two-wheeled vehicles sold by the Company since around 2021, media reports indicate that the representative of the supplier, Regalith Co., Ltd. (Shibuya-ku, Tokyo; President: Daisuke Ishizaki; “Regalith”), was referred to prosecutors on suspicion of fraud and violating the Unfair Competition Prevention Act of Japan (misleading representation). This was related to the company supplying products to its business partners while falsely claiming that these products complied with applicable domestic laws and regulations. As of March 31, 2026, the case had not been prosecuted.

Based on their specifications and features, these products may be classified as so-called “mopeds” (vehicles that could be considered motorized bicycles). Depending on their use, a driver’s license and vehicle registration may be required, and certain restrictions may apply to their operation on public roads.

In response to this matter, and with the highest priority placed on ensuring customer safety, the Company has decided to request that customers discontinue use of the affected products and to implement a voluntary recall, offering refunds or repairs to ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations.
